KENTUCKY SYNOD

And Louisville Presbytery Will Meet Jointly Here.

Will Convene Monday, October Twelfth For Three Days' Session.

The Louisville Presbytery of the Northern Presbyterian church will hold its annual meeting here on October 12. The local Presbyterian church was organized in 1813 by Rev. Gideon Blackburn, D. D., and this meeting will celebrate the 90th anniversary of that event. On the following day, October 13, the Synod of Kentucky, of the Presbyterian church, U. S. A., will hold its 102nd annual meeting with the same church. The joint assembling of the Presbytery and the Synod will take about three days and attract probably sixty or more delegates. There are in the State about 80 churches and 60 licensed preachers. The Synod has met in Hopkinsville only twice in the past. The first time was in 1839 and the last time in 1859. This return after 44 years will be an event of the greatest interest to the few members of the local church who were here in 1859.

The opening sermon of the Presbytery will be preached by Rev. L. H. Hudson, of Owensboro, on Monday night, the 12th. There will be a paper by Judge J. I. Landes on the local history of the church.

Also an address by Dr. E. L. Warren, of Louisville, Stated Clerk of the Synod, on "History of Presbyterianism in Kentucky."

There will be sermons or addresses by a number of able divines, among them Dr. J. Kinney Smith, of Louisville; Dr. Peyton H. Hoge, of Louisville, and Dr. John Fox, of New York, Secretary of the American Bible Society.

Dr. Wm. C. Roberts, of Danville, is the present Moderator.

Another body that will meet will be the Woman's Synodical Missionary Society.

Delegates and visitors are expected to number at least 100, who will be provided with entertainment by the members of the local church and other citizens.

"BUD" O'BRYAN.

Resigns as Receiver and Returns to Owensboro.

Mr. J. C. O'Bryan, who became receiver of the Western Asylum for the Insane in July 1900, has voluntarily retired from the position he filled so acceptably and left yesterday for his home in Owensboro, together with his family. Mr. O'Bryan came into the office with considerable experience in clerical work and performed his duties in an efficient and conscientious manner. He resigns to accept a traveling position with Armour & Co., of Louisville, Ky. His territory will be the river counties between Henderson and Louisville. Mr. O'Bryan was formerly deputy sheriff of Daviess county and his friends are already mentioning him in connection with the Democratic nomination for sheriff of that county in 1905. His popularity in his county has frequently been shown and even while here he loyally supported Owensboro men who sought office. In the congressional race he worked hard for Judge E. P. Taylor and helped to greatly increase his vote in this county. He was also an earnest supporter of Mr. J. T. Griffith for Treasurer last spring and did all he could for him. We predict that when the time comes he will be a most formidable candidate, if he consents to run.

Mr. O'Bryan's successor as Receiver, Judge Chas. Emery, of Paducah, entered upon his duties yesterday.

BIGNESS OF SIBERIA

Surpasses Any Other Country in the World in This Respect.

Some Facts and Figures About This Mighty Colony of the East—What the Siberian Railway is Now Doing for It.

The diplomatic fight which Russia is making to retain Manchuria, with its ice-free ports, so as to provide a market for Siberia serves to call attention to that great Russian colony and make the statement of a few facts regarding the colony and the railway which has been built across it of special interest at this time.

We in America are in the habit of referring to the bigness of things, but we must admit that Siberia is, in excellence, the land of distances. It is 200 times the size of Scotland, and its mining and agricultural belt is at least 50 times as large as England.

A TYPICAL RAILWAY STATION.

Of its innumerable waterways, nearly 30,000 miles are navigable. It has gold fields many thousand square miles in extent, and for 4,000 miles from the slopes of the Altai mountains and thence through the Balkan region of the East Siberian ranges—fields of silver, lead, copper and iron persist in its unknown metallic chain. The great railroad itself, which transports us from gray Europe to the golden east and the Pacific, is 6,000 miles long—that is to say, it girdles nearly a quarter of the globe's circumference.

As with distances so with numbers it was decided to build a railroad which should bring Europe to the far east. Immediately an army of 200,000 appeared to build it. That army of workmen promptly scored a record for its cosmopolitanism—Russians, Germans, Americans, French, Turks, Kirghis, Tartars, Tungus, Burjats, Ostiaks, Mongolians, Chinese, Manchurians, Japanese—are all conspicuous in it. Think of the task of feeding them!

The whole length of line may be divided into four sections—the vast plains of West Siberia, the forested rolling country of central Siberia, the high ranges of the Balkan region, and the tundra or forest country, which Pacific.

Russian system naturally dominates everything. Here it is, for example, in the stations of which, by the way, there are 100. They are built on a strictly systematic plan and graduated into classes—four classes, at least. The first and second class are built of brick or stone. They have very good refreshment rooms, and complete arrangements at the back for temporarily housing and dispersing the 250,000 Siberian emigrants now annually entering Siberia. The lower classes are built of wood, and uncooked food is procurable at these. All, of course, have a water-tower, and a storehouse—banked with earth up to the roof to keep out the cold—and to every station there is attached a small dispensary, with a dispenser in attendance, which is a welcome enough sight in this land of distances.

Last year 2,600,000 passengers and 4,500,000 tons of goods passed along the railway. That is not bad for a single line. What will it be, however, as Siberia develops? Its population has already risen, with the railway, for whichever way we look at it, we must never forget that what we are watching is the expansion of Russia, and that in Siberia and her capacity for almost unlimited growth Russia has discovered and now is founding her colonial empire.

MOTTEFLORE BRICK.

CRANBERRY CULTURE

Where the Delicious Little Red Berry Is Grown.

Cape Cod Was Its First Home in America—It Is Now a Product of Many States of the Union.

The cranberry of commerce is native to a narrow belt of country along the Atlantic coast from Maine to New Jersey and in isolated areas along the Allegheny mountains from southern Pennsylvania to North Carolina, in the central United States the plant is found in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

The successful commercial developments in the cranberry industry have very generally been found in localities where the cranberry occurs as a native plant. The areas from which the crop is reported as a commercial industry are indicated by the black dots

MAP SHOWING SECTIONS IN WHICH CRANBERRIES ARE GROWN. On the map, a glance at which reveals at once the regions in which the cranberry is now grown.

The earliest plantings of the cranberry were made in the Cape Cod region of Massachusetts in the first quarter of the nineteenth century, probably between 1800 and 1818. From a meager start the industry has grown to one of first magnitude and has been extended into other states, as shown by the accompanying table taken from the census of 1900:

States	Acres Bushels
Connecticut	22 4,021
Illinois	1 43
Indiana	1 43
Iowa	1 43
Kansas	1 43
Maine	1,500 1,664
Massachusetts	1,100 1,100
Michigan	1,100 1,100
Minnesota	1,100 1,100
Nevada	1 43
New Jersey	1 43
New York	1,100 1,100
North Dakota	1,100 1,100
Oregon	1 43
Rhode Island	1 43
South Dakota	1 43
Texas	1 43
Washington	1,100 1,100
Wisconsin	1,100 1,100

All economic plants show a preference for certain soil and climatic conditions, and none is more exacting in this regard than the cranberry. While it can be easily and successfully grown on congenial soils, it cannot be made to return paying crops under adverse conditions.

The conditions necessary for success in cranberry culture are soils of a peaty or alluvial nature, located at high altitudes or in high latitudes, and provided with an ample and easily accessible supply of sand. Repeated failures have resulted from attempts to establish cranberry plantations on soils not congenial to the plant. The best index to the fitness of the soil for this crop is the occurrence of native cranberry plants. Where the cranberry is indigenous to the soil it is safe to undertake the commercial cultivation of the crop. The commercial cranberry bog or meadow should combine as many as possible of the elements which characterize the natural habitat of the cranberry, with all possible appliances for controlling adverse conditions. While the cranberry is not a water plant, it thrives best on soils in which the water level is within a few inches of the surface of the soil. It is desirable that the arrangements be such as to render it possible to maintain a constant water level throughout the growing season, and at the same time to hold the water to the depth of eight or ten inches below the surface, particularly during the first three years of the existence of the plantation. The supply of water should also be sufficient and the plantation so provided with dikes as to allow of flooding the area with water to the depth of 18 inches to two feet from November to May in localities where it is necessary to protect the plants from insects and from late spring frosts.

At present the important commercial cranberry areas of the United States are situated in Massachusetts, New Jersey and Wisconsin, with minor fields in Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New York, North Dakota, Oregon, Rhode Island, Washington and West Virginia. The accompanying map (Fig. 1), prepared from the last census, indicates in a graphic manner the location of the cranberry districts

Get the Most Out of Your Food

You don't eat much of your stomach is weak. A weak stomach does not digest all that is ordinarily taken into it. It gets tired easily, and what it fails to digest is wasted.

Among the signs of a weak stomach are: uneasiness after eating, distention of the abdomen, and disagreeable belching. "I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla at different times for stomach troubles, and a run down condition of the system, and have been greatly benefited by its use. I would not be without it in my family. Tobacco Barn Burns and Live Stock Perish.

The tobacco and stock barn of Mr. Richard Barnett, who lives in Christian, near the Hopkins county line, was destroyed by fire a few nights ago, together with its contents, consisting of the product of ten acres of tobacco, two fine mules, five head of fattening hogs, a lot of harness and farming implements, and about $100 worth of hay. Mr. Barnett's loss is about $1,500. He had no insurance. It is not known how the fire originated.

Franchise Ordinance.

A number of citizens of the city of Hopkinsville, Ky., appeared before the Board of Council and notified said council that they desired a franchise to erect, maintain and operate a telephone exchange in the city of Hopkinsville, Ky., and requested said board to pass an ordinance authorizing and directing the sale of such franchise, whereupon the following franchise ordinance was adopted:

Be it ordained by the Board of Council of the city of Hopkinsville, that the city of Hopkinsville sell to the highest and best bidder a franchise to erect, maintain and operate a telephone exchange in said city for a period of 20 years from and after the enactment of an ordinance by this council granting same.

The person or persons, company or corporation becoming the purchaser of said franchise when sold, after said sale shall have been confirmed by this council, and the bond hereinafter provided for executed, shall have been granted to him, them or it a franchise giving to him, them or it, his, their or its successors, assigns or lessees, the following privileges, and imposing upon him, them or it, his, their or its successors, assigns or lessees, the following restrictions:

SECTION I.—That there is hereby created and established a franchise or privilege to erect, operate and maintain a telephone exchange, embracing central office, telephone poles, fixtures, cables and wires along, through, over and under the streets, sidewalks and alleys of the city of Hopkinsville, Kentucky.

SECTION II.—The said franchise or privilege shall continue for a period of 20 years from and after the time the same shall take effect.

SECTION III.—The purchaser of said franchise or privilege may assign or transfer the same.

SECTION IV.—Said poles, fixtures, cables and wires shall be erected and maintained in a substantial and workmanlike manner; said poles shall be located so as not to interfere with the legitimate entrance to any adjacent property, nor to obstruct the free use of said streets, sidewalks and alleys for the purpose of public travel.

SECTION V.—The purchaser of said franchise or privileges, his successors or assigns, shall properly replace any paving and macadamizing that may be disturbed by said purchaser in setting said poles and shall also, at said purchaser's own expense, remove all dirt and debris that may arise in making excavations for that purpose.

All work of setting poles shall be done under the supervision of the street committee, and it shall be the duty of said committee to see that the provisions of this ordinance are faithfully complied with.

SECTION VI.—The city of Hopkinsville, Ky., shall have the right to place, maintain and operate its fire and police wires upon poles of said purchaser (within the corporate limits of said city) free of charge, provided said wires shall be located upon said poles in such a way as not to interfere with the wires of said purchaser.

SECTION VII.—Said purchaser, his successor and assigns, shall indemnify said city from any and all damage that may arise from the presence of said poles, fixtures, cables and wires upon, along or under said streets, sidewalks and alleys, or from its failure to comply with the provisions of this ordinance.

SECTION VIII.—If after said exchange is made, said purchaser, his successors or assigns, shall fail to perform all the terms and conditions of this ordinance, said city council may, after giving said purchaser, his successors or assigns, reasonable notice of such failure and such failure is not remedied, revoke all rights and privileges herein granted, and cause all poles, wires and apparatus erected under this ordinance to be removed.

Nothing in this franchise shall be construed so as to give the purchaser, his successors or assigns, any exclusive right to the privileges granted in section I.

SECTION IX.—That the purchaser of this franchise, his successors or assigns, shall not charge and collect for the rental of the telephones within the corporate limits of the city of Hopkinsville, Ky., exceeding the following rates per month, viz:

SECTION X.—That all telephones put in or operated under this franchise, shall be long distance telephones, and they operated on a metallic system.

SECTION XI.—Within ten days after the approval and publication of this ordinance, it shall be the duty of said city council through the clerk of the board of council of the city of Hopkinsville to advertise by posting printed or written notices in at least three public places in the city of Hopkinsville, Ky., or by advertising same in some newspaper of general circulation published in said city, for a period of at least twenty days; that bids will be received at public outcry for the before mentioned franchise or privilege, and said clerk shall elect and state in said advertisement the time and place (said place to be within said city, and said time to be not later than October 23, 1903) when said bids shall be received; and said clerk shall according to such advertisement receive such bids and report same to said city council at a call meeting, which is hereby called to meet on Friday night at 7:30 o'clock p.m., the 23rd day of October, 1903; and said city council shall award said franchise or privilege to the highest and best bidder, but said city council hereby reserves the right to reject any and all bids made at the sale of this franchise and said advertisement shall reserve the right to reject any and all bids. The bidder to whom said franchise or privilege shall be awarded shall pay the amount of such bid in cash or by duly certified check to the treasurer of said city of Hopkinsville, Ky., within five days after said franchise is sold as herein provided, and it is further ordained that the minimum price for which this franchise will be sold is an amount equal to the amount of the costs of the advertising of this ordinance and all ordinances in connection herewith, which minimum price will be stated by the clerk offering such franchise for sale.

It is further declared that one of the conditions upon which this franchise is granted is: that the purchaser of same shall, within five days after said sale and before said bid for such franchise is accepted by the council, execute a bond with approved security for the sum of $5,000.00 to the city of Hopkinsville conditioned that said purchaser, be, their or its successors or assigns shall within twelve months after the granting of this franchise have in operation within the city of Hopkinsville a telephone exchange, and upon said purchaser's failure or upon his, their or its successors or assigns failure to comply with the conditions of said bond the same is to be taken as forfeited and the parties bound there-to shall pay to the said board of council for the use and benefit of the city of Hopkinsville the said sum of $5,000.00.

This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

YOM KIPPUR.

Yesterday the Jewish Day of Atonement.

At Sundown Wednesday Night the Holiest Hours in the Year to Jews Began.

The day, lasting until sundown yesterday, is called Yom Kippur, or the Day of Atonement. It marks the last of the ten days of atonement, which are supposed to begin on Rosh Hoshonah, the Jewish New Year, celebrated one week ago last Monday.

Yom Kippur is a day of fasting, when the Jews are supposed to refrain from food or drink in order to atone, in part, for their sins of the past year. The custom of fasting is not nearly so generally observed now as it was in recent years. Among the Orthodox Jews, however, it is strictly adhered to.

The Orthodox Hebrews, of Hopkinsville, held their religious meeting Wednesday night at the residence of Mr. H. Bohn, from 7 to 9 p.m. and also held the same yesterday from 8 to 12 a.m. and from 3 to 5 p.m. The services were strictly orthodox, and the prayers were read in the Hebrew language. The Bible was read from the holy scrolls which are called Seifer Ithorah. This is the five books of Moses written by hand on parchment. It belongs to Mr. H. Bohn. It was written a hundred years ago. Messrs. H. Bohn, S. Klein, E. Tanner and S. Sacks officiated. Twenty-five people attended these services with fasting, praying and singing. All Jewish business houses were closed yesterday.

PICTURES IN THE EYE.

One of the Mysteries Science Has Failed to Entirely Explain.

When the eyes are closed a never ending series of pictures pass before a person's mind if she or he chooses to look at them. Lying in bed, after a tiring or exciting day, with your eyes closed, and about to fall asleep, have you never seen, apparently in the eyeball, spots and streaks of colored light, changing their forms and shifting their places. Have you never watched them passing into complicated patterns, like those of the kaleidoscope, or into pretty landscapes quite unknown to you, or into strange faces, now and again, very beautiful or angelic, but often as ugly and hideous as goblins from the infernal regions, or haply, into scenes of action reminding you of the drama, but such as you never saw in real life or upon any stage?

What are they? It is one of the mysteries of the marvelous, nay, miraculous, organ, the brain, says the Philadelphia Press. We must distinguish them from other mysteries of the "book-land" which lies between the adjoining states of wide awake and sound asleep.

Pictures in the eye are more akin to what are called "after images." A gentleman, after a fatiguing day, was cheered by the sight of a beefsteak for his dinner, as he very well might, but seemingly the steak made a very deep impression on his mind or his digestion, for while he was dozing, with his eyes closed, after retiring, he saw it again as vividly as before, and on dropping asleep he saw it a third time in his dream. It was doubtless a substantial steak and not a ghost, and yet it haunted him.

There is, of course, more than one theory of these living creatures in the eye, or, as they are called in science, "hypnagogic images." One is that they are formed on the retina of the eye and confined to it. Another is that they are purely mental and formed in the cortex, or bark, so to speak, of the cerebrum. As often happens, the truth appears to lie in a combination of both views. Recent observations of M. Yves Delage have put the question to experimental proof. When we look at a bright body, for example, the sun, and shut our eyes, we see a colored spot of light, and if we move the eye up or down, to right or left, the spot moves with it. The spot, in fact, is left by the image of the sun upon the retina, and, therefore, moves with it. Now, if the hypnagogic images are on the retina, they also will move with the eye, and this is what M. Delage has found. Nevertheless, the brain also comes into play.

If Dr. W. B. Caldwell of Monticello, Ill., and the directors of the company which manufacture his wonderful remedy did not stand so high in the community in which they live, their statements as to the merits of that remedy would not be accorded the weight which they now receive. Their statements, however, are backed by hundreds of voluntary testimonials which prove that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a most satisfactory cure for constipation, indigestion, dyspepsia, liver and stomach troubles. Druggists sell it.

TROUBLES OF MILLIONAIRES.

They Find the Public Somewhat Proud to Fleeced Them.

"To be a millionaire is not all joy," he said, getting out of his $12,000 motor car, according to the Philadelphia Record. "The deuce it isn't."

"Well, it isn't." "Why isn't it?" "On account of the way every body piles it on you in the matter of prices. For instance, this morning a dentist sent my wife's bill for $150. He hasn't done much to her teeth, and the bill seems exorbitant. I am on my way now to get another dentist's opinion on it, and this other fellow will certainly charge me for his advice, and he may be, furthermore, a friend of the first man's, and on account of friendship he may say the bill is all right."

"How provoking!" "Isn't it? I have to bind every body I do business with down to a contract. Unless I say: 'Now, how much are you going to charge?' Draw up a paper. Put it down in black and white—unless I fence myself in with every precaution, I am deceived on all sides. Because I am a millionaire people take me for a fool. They think they can charge me double, triple and quadruple. I'm in hot water with them all the time."

"Remember," he went on, "that $8 pair of shoes you showed me last month? Well, I went to your bootmaker and ordered a pair just like them, and when the bill came home it was for $15. I had made no contract. Hence I had to pay up."

"Doctors and lawyers charge me tremendous prices. They don't gain anything by it, but they gain more than I do, at that. I am getting mad at their extortion; I keep changing from one to another. But it does me no good. They're all alike."

"When I go to buy a horse I leave my own carriage three or four blocks away, and I make my purchase before revealing my name. How mad the dealers look when they hear my name—when they perceive that they have given reasonable rates to a well-known millionaire. But it's seldom I get the better of a bargain in this way."

FAIR EXCHANGE.

A New Back for An Old One—How it is Done in Hopkinsville.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the lous are so lame to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one. Follow the example of this Hopkinsville citizen.

J. B. Cravens, blacksmith, of 320 West 19th St., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills practically gave me a new back. For three or four years a kidney trouble had caused me the most constant and severe aches and pains through my back and compelled me to constantly complain in more than one way. When arising in the morning I felt sore and lame and had to make a great effort to dress myself. The trouble grew worse and a weakness of the kidneys set in which caused me a great deal of annoyance. Willing to try almost anything I purchased Doan's Kidney Pills as soon as I saw them advertised locally and got a box at Thomas & Traher's drug store. They brought me a great deal of benefit. My back is well and strong now and the trouble with the kidney secretions is much relieved. The experiment has given me a great deal of faith in Doan's Kidney Pills."

THREE SHOTS

Rang Out and Victim Was Mortally Wounded.

Slayer Claims He Was Drunk and Remembers Little About the Killing.

Albert Bishop shot and killed Edward White, near Noah Spring, last Saturday afternoon. The parties are colored and were attending a barbecue at the Spring, which is near the Kentucky and Tennessee line. The killing occurred in Christian county. The men, it is claimed, got into a row over a small amount of money, when Bishop drew his gun and commenced shooting. He fired three times. Two of the balls entered the ground near White's feet, and the third took effect in his body, passing nearly through him. He lived until Sunday.

Constable Rives arrested Bishop at the home of his father, near Garrettsburg, and lodged him in jail Monday afternoon.

The prisoner claims that he was drunk and does not remember the killing. He assigns no reason for the act. He is about 21 years old and is a bright mulatto. His victim was about 35 years old, a man of family, and lived in Tennessee.

We will have a page for the county and city officials, lawyers, doctors and professional men. Don't be left out of this great advertising medium.

Mr. R. E. Hughes, Secretary Kentucky Exhibit Association World's Fair, St. Louis 1904, who called on me recently, says without fail send a copy of each town I have gotten issues of this kind out for, to be exhibited in the Kentucky building. He says it is the finest enterprise in the State to-day. I will respond to his request.

Wm. H. BICKERS

THE KENTUCKIAN'S Pictorial - Edition

Of Hopkinsville and Christian County

Will be profusely illustrated with half-tone pictures, taken by our special artists, of public and private buildings, officials, and other Christian county personages, leading up to the present time scenes, together with a complete and exhaustive resume by our special writer, Mr. Wm. H. Bickers, of a number of years experience in this class of work. We will show to the various towns, industrial, mineral and agricultural resources—in fact, every feature bearing on the wealth of this part of the State, and the progressiveness of its people. We will have thousands of this Pictorial Edition to reach every home throughout this section of Kentucky free.

We desire to place before the public a splendid Pictorial Edition of the Kentuckian, printed on a superior quality of book paper and handsomely illustrated.

This issue will be for the purpose of setting forth the advantages of Hopkinsville and Christian county in such a manner as to invite investigation, attract capital and labor from other sections and show to the world that as a place to live and succeed in, this county is on a par with any other section of the country.

We want the work to contain sketches of the lives and characters of our citizens, descriptions and illustrations of the beautiful scenery, pictures of local homes, etc., matter of direct local interest to the people, so that the publication may take a permanent place in the libraries and homes throughout the county and wherever it may go.

We present to the merchants and business men an opportunity to advertise; one that is sure, safe and profitable, with the reading matter written in a style very attractive.

This edition will number 5,000 copies, and this vast number distributed to the readers of this and adjoining counties will be read and re-read for months and years.

The printing and pictorial part of the work will illustrate the most approved style of artistic designing and reproduction. Elegant half-tone pictures of yourselves, residences, churches, farm houses, colleges and street scenes will be employed in a way that will reflect credit upon this county and the paper. A large sum of money will necessarily need to be expended and we trust that this end will have the hearty support and co-operation of the business men and citizens. Pictures of nice residences through the county will be taken and half-tone cuts made from them and put on the pages of this beautiful edition. Let every man take space at a very small sum of money. The price will be regulated by the amount of space you want and where you want it in the edition.

We have secured the services of Mr. Wm. H. Bickers, special edition editor of this class and an artist in his line, who has special charge this work. He makes this class of work a specialty and has an established reputation in this line. He distinguished himself as a special artist for the New York World in the Cuban campaign, making it possible for the great daily to be represented to give accurate descriptions by illustration of prominent events, and now this well equipped artist will picture in words, sketches and photographs our magnificent county and its great resources. He comes highly recommended in person and by press clippings. Any favors shown him in connection with the enterprise will be appreciated. Mr. Bickers or others of this office will call on you in the near future and ask that you take space in this edition. If we do not see you, call at the office. We will spare no time, money, work or patience to make the pictorial edition of the Kentuckian a work of which every citizen of Christian county may be justly proud.
